BOSTON EXPRESS SHEPHERD TRUCK COLLAPSED

One man was instantly killed, another probably fatally injured and a third badly hurt when an express train from Brockton to Boston on the New Haven Railroad struck an automobile truck at the Pope's Hill station at 12:52 o'clock.

The three men were on the automobile, which was smashed and hurled into a ditch at the side of the track. The body of the dead man was caught on the cowcatcher and remained there until the engine came to a stop. The other two men were thrown through the air with the wrecked machine.

TRAIN WAS RUNNING AT FULL SPEED.

The train was well filled with passengers, many of whom were women, and they were greatly shocked at the accident. Some of the passengers declared that they were four men on the automobile truck, but only three could be found when the train came to a standstill, and an investigation was made.

The train runs from Brockton as an express, leaving there at 12:19. It came through Pope's Hill at a high rate of speed. A highway that crosses the railroad tracks at grade is partly hidden from the train by a big hill.

The men had no time to jump even before the locomotive thundered into them. It was some distance away from the crossing that the train came to a halt and the train men and many of the passengers ran back to make a examination of the scene of the big run on the front of the engine and a heavy examination showed

In the precautions we take to preserve this purity and cleanliness of Pfaff's Beer during the bottling, we would surprise those who are unfamiliar with the thoroughness of our methods.

First, the bottles are put through a sterilizing solution, which cleans the insides of the bottles perfectly. Then, after being rinsed, they go to an ingenious machine that wastes them repeatedly and scours every inch of the inside surface. From here, the bottles go to the filling machine which, by means of compressed air, fills each bottle direct from the barrel.

Finally, they go to an endless belt carrier that passes them slowly through a tank of very hot water, the passage taking fully an hour. This last is called "Pasteurizing," which makes fermentation in the bottle impossible.

All this in order that we may give the people of New England a pure and healthful beer—Pfaff's.

More clothes are rubbed out than worn out. GOLD DUST saves rubbing and saves your clothes

Do not use Soap, Naphtha, Borax, Soda, Ammonia or Kerosene with GOLD DUST. GOLD DUST has all desirable cleansing qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form. The GOLD DUST TWINS need no outside help. GOLD DUST lathers instantly in hot or cold, hard or soft water—converts itself instantly into thick, vigorous suds that remove grease, grime and settled stains and clear out germs and impurities. It leaves only cleanliness in their wake.

GOLD DUST spares you and protects your clothes from washboard wear.

The illustration shows two women in a domestic setting, likely a laundry room. They are both bent over, using washboards to clean clothes. The woman on the left is wearing a dark dress and a white apron. The woman on the right is wearing a light-colored dress and a white apron. In the foreground, there is a box of Gold Dust. The box is rectangular and has the words 'GOLD DUST' printed on it in a stylized font. The box also features an illustration of a woman washing clothes. The overall style of the illustration is simple and illustrative, typical of early 20th-century advertising.
